Hand Blown Off by an Explosion.

Mr. Homer Keller, a young man of Hampshire county, is under treatment at the Winchester Memorial Hospital and in a serious condition as the result of the explosion of a dynamite cap, which tore off the greater portion of his right hand.

Mr. Keller, who is about 20 years old, went to work recently picking apples with many other men for Mr. H. F. Byrd in the Baldwin orchard near Rest, Frederick county, and Sunday he found a dynamite cap and pounded on it. The explosion that followed alarmed the entire camp, and at first many of the men did not know what had happened.

Young Keller was taken to the hospital at Winchester in the afternoon, and his injuries were given prompt attention. It was found that the greater portion of his hand would have to be taken off. Although resting as easy as could be expected, he continues to suffer much pain.

Four Hundred Pound Bear Killed.

Harrisonburg, Oct. 17.—Four hundred pounds is some bear, and the ordinary mortal would have sensations ranging anywhere from hysteria to St. Vitus dance if perchance one of these brutes was met where springing was not good.

However, such a bear was killed at Raleigh Saturday by Messrs. William Whitmore and Andy Cooper, two gladiators who do not fear hunting.

The Laymen's Movement.

After some months of preliminary preparation the general committee, representing the different churches of Woodstock and vicinity, is bringing to completion plans for banquet and rally to be held Nov. 12 and 13. In a short time the program will be published, giving definite information in regard to banquet, meetings and speakers.

The meeting is a part of the general movement throughout the country, participated in by all evangelical churches, having for its motto: "The evangelization of the world in this generation."

The object is to rally the men of the churches as a great latent force, whose possibilities in missionary endeavor have hitherto not been fully realized.

It is not the idea to start a new missionary enterprise or to create a separate fund. The aim is to increase the regular missionary offerings of the different denominations to be sent through the regular channels.

Church Notes.

An interesting meeting is now going on at the Christian Church at the place under the preaching of Mr. J. O. Hulseback, and the management of Mr. Hamaker the Pastor. The audiences are good and attentive. The interest manifested continues unabated. The ability of the speaker is really fine and much above the average. There have been quite a number of confessions and good is being accomplished.

The meeting will continue over next Sunday. Public cordially invited to come and enjoy the services.

Rev. L. Butt preached in the Presbyterian Church last Sunday morning.

Services were held in the Reformed, Methodist and Christian churches, Sunday morning and night.

A Card.

This is to certify that I have never had better treatment by any people than that rendered me by the folks of Shenandoah and especially the families of D. A. Bowman and Capt. Kootz.

Am well satisfied with the success of the show, and I want to say further, more that Mr. D. A. Bowman, Capt. Kootz and myself would have been just as well off financially to have picked apples or shucked corn, but from the beginning it was our hearts desire to start and establish an annual exhibition of live stock and an agricultural fair. We feel proud of our beginning and hope that the Shenandoah people and all adjoining Co. will reap great benefits from our efforts in the future.

P. E. Rhinehart.

Raced 30 Miles To Bride.

Luray, Va., Oct. 15.—Not thwarted by late trains on the Southern Railway, which prevented his connection with the Norfolk and Western railroad at Riverton, from which place he was to come to Luray at an appointed hour yesterday to meet Miss Ellen Rena Robertson, of Bedford City, Va., Prof. George B. Haun, of Shenandoah county, began a 30-mile race with a lively team over a rough country to reach Luray in time to meet his intended bride, who was coming from her Bedford home and who was due to arrive in Luray at 5 o'clock.

Fearing Miss Robertson would have serious misgivings about his failure to meet her at the appointed hour, Professor Haun made the drive in only a little less time than had he caught the derelict train. Notwithstanding the almost incredible drive made by Professor Haun the intended bride reached Luray first and began to make anxious inquiries about Professor Haun. No one had seen or heard of such an individual. The tense situation was relieved about midnight, when Professor Haun dashed into sight. Elder D. W. Strickler, a widely known German Baptist minister, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. SALLIE WRIGHT.

The entire community was shocked last Friday evening when the death of Mrs. Sallie Hausenfuhr wife of Mr. George I. Wright was announced.

WM. H. BLACKFORD DEAD AT AGE OF 69.

Baltimore Evening Sun Oct. 7.

Insurance and social circles were shocked this morning when the sudden death of Major William H. Blackford, president of the Maryland Life Insurance Company, 8-10 South street, one of the best known insurance men in town, was announced.

Major Blackford was at his desk on Thursday, but went home early in the day, complaining of a cold. He took to his bed and the following day pneumonia set in. Dr. Andrew Whitridge was summoned. Yesterday the family and friends of the sick man were informed that his condition was very much improved. In the middle of the day Mr. Blackford's temperature had dropped down almost to normal. As night drew on the patient suffered a relapse and his vitality steady sank. Dr. William S. Thayer was called in for a consultation. Mr. Blackford, however, was beyond human aid, and at 6 o'clock this morning he breathed his last.

Until Thursday Mr. Blackford had been in excellent health. Two weeks ago today he returned from a trip to Europe, where he had spent an enjoyable tour. He is survived by his widow and a son, William S. Blackford, who is manager of agencies for the Maryland Life Insurance Company.

Shenandoah county, Virginia, was the birthplace of Mr. Blackford. He was born 69 years ago, on December 27. When the Civil War broke out he enlisted in the Confederate Army, at Lynchburg, as a private. He served through the entire strife and when peace was declared he wore the straps of a major. Shortly after the close of the war he came to Baltimore from Parkersburg, W. Va., and entered the insurance business.

On June 13, 1879, he was made manager of agencies of the Maryland Life Company. His faithful and intelligent services were rewarded, and on November 21, 1887, he was elected president of the company. He was beloved by all men under him.

State-Wide Prohibition.

The executive committee of the Virginia Anti-Saloon League has decided that it is time to wage a campaign for state wide prohibition, and it is announced that this will be the action of the league when it meets in annual convention in Newport News in February.

It will be necessary for the question to be submitted to the legislature when it convenes in 1912, the majority of the members of which will have to be elected next year. The expediency of submitting the question to a vote of the people has been before the Anti-Saloon League at every meeting for several years, but no formal demand on the legislature for submission to the people was ever made. At the last session of the legislature Senator Strode, of his own accord, introduced an enabling act, which was defeated.

State-Secretary McAllister, of the league, says the decision to begin a campaign was reached at a meeting of the executive committee at Richmond Monday which was largely attended. This is taken to mean that the liquor question will be the paramount issue in state politics for the next two years.
